ALOIS KRACHER
(BURGENLAND, AUSTRIA)

2011 Cuvée Beerenauslese

"Luis" Kracher was one of the greatest visionaries in winemaking and was a driving force behind the "Austrian wine wonder" during the 1990s and a motor behind the renaissance of noble sweet wines. The whole wine world mourned the premature death of Luis, who – as a trained chemist – began his winemaking career at his father's estate aged twenty-two years old.

Beerenauslese (literal meaning: "selected harvest of berries") is a German language wine term for a late harvest wine. Beerenauslese wines, often called "BA" for short, are usually made from grapes affected by noble rot, that is "botrytized" grapes. These wines are typically very sweet and rich, and most age very well. These wines are produced in very small quantities when the weather is suitable for the noble rot to form and only in vineyards with appropriate conditions.

"A sheen of lifted lemon oil surrounds this BA, whose palate oscillates between feisty, candied lemon peel and more hazy notions of passion fruit. There is something elixir-like about its immense precision and perfect balance." 90 Pts - Wine Enthusiast

CHATEAU HALLET
(SAUTERNES, FRANCE)

2015 Sauternes

Château Hallet is located in Sauternes, owned by Michel Bernard. The vineyard is 13 acres total. The soil is a mix of clay and limestone. The 30 year-old vines are harvested by hand: the grapes are picked in successive passes. The wine matures in stainless steel tank and no oak is used. The production is 1,250 case per year on average.

Sauternes is a French sweet wine from the Sauternais region of the Graves section in Bordeaux. Sauternes is made from grapes that have been affected by Botrytis cinerea, also known as noble rot. This causes the grapes to become partially raisined, resulting in concentrated and distinctively flavored wines. Due to its climate, Sauternes is one of the few wine regions where infection with noble rot is a frequent occurrence. Even so, production is a hit-or-miss proposition, with widely varying harvests from vintage to vintage.

Made from 100% Sémillon. With delicate aromas of honey, citrus, crystallized fruit and acacia, it makes a good match not only for desserts, but also for roasted meats and blue cheeses. It makes a delicious aperitif when served chilled.
